

Dear Professor Cheung,

I am writing to report Chung Tsz Yin being a freerider.

To explain the situation, I will start talking about his behavior. His job in this project is to do the data cleaning part and filtering the data. We started discussing the project way around 7th April. We expected the data cleaning part to be done very quickly as it is not a difficult thing to do. However, on 20th April, when we asked about the progress, he answered “still working on the cleaning part”. So, we expected it to be done before May. But once again, he didn’t send the part that he needs to do. Because he is really delaying the progress on both visualizing the data, coding and finishing the report. So, we asked again on 2nd May, and finally he sent out some data. But that was the data on website, not even a bit was done. On the next day, he finally finished his job. But when we looked at the data, all he did was just renaming the name of the variables, giving us 80+ variables to do. As we afraid of him continuously being delaying things because there is not much time left, we had to finish the data cleaning part on our own and did the remaining part.

After this, we try to finish the report, but he just writes some inaccurate report and when we asked him to help with the introduction, he said “he will write it that night”. But again, he didn’t. Leaving us a lot of job to be done.

There will be some Whatsapp chat records as evidence. I hope you can punish him for his behavior. Thank you and sorry for bothering you.

Best regard,
